

Your opportunity to win a newly written choral piece for your choir!

An outstanding offer worth over £500!!

Many of the pieces of music in Tim's catalogue have come about as a result of commissions, and this year to celebrate the 21st anniversary of the publication of his first choral work, Tim has decided to offer two free commissions to choirs – the text for the work could come from the public domain or from a choir member, it can be sacred or secular, for Ladies choir or Mixed voice choir, it could be used to mark a special milestone in your choir's life, or for raising awareness and publicity, or just as an unique memento for your choir!

Normally an especially composed short piece would cost about £500 so you can see that this is a valuable offer

Here is how to apply for your chance to win

Simply send us an email telling us why your choir would like this newly written piece (remember there are two available) and all of us at Tim Knight music will make a decision based on the most appealing or newsworthy reason, the closing date is March 1st 2012 and the winning choirs will be notified later that month.. if you are looking for the catch,... there isn't one but there are two conditions,

The winning choir must agree to make a recording of the piece (this can be done these days on a phone camera) so that we can use it for publicity on Facebook, secondly your choir must already be a customer of Tim Knight music and have purchased a set of music from us in the past or before March 1st 2012 , email Faye with details of the Tim Knight piece you already have and the reason (no more than 50 words) why your choir should receive the free piece, (faye@timknightmusic.com) and we will be back in touch with details of the two winners in March 2012.

Best wishes and Good luck!
